From the desk of the Auxiliary President..

Happy Spring..well almost and for most daylight savings time has begun! And with Spring and daylight savings time comes April. With April comesannual BAKELESS BAKE SALE! For those who may not know or those who may not remember, throughout the month of April we request any donations you may possibly be able to send to help continue our scholarship fund. Now, you don't have to wait until April..we'll take donations any time but we designate April (think tax refund??) as the special month for our request, Just make your check to the USMC MTAA Scholarship Fund and mail it to the regular address of: P O Box 1372, Jacksonville, NC 28541. No donation is too small and we appreciate each and every one. Thank you.

It's been a very quiet first few months of 2024 for the auxiliary. We have a meeting scheduled for later March and intend to get back on track. I personally had a bad late 2023 and early 2024 with 3 family deaths and 1 dear friend, then after staying clear of the beast for 4 years, had an ugly three weeks of covid. Thankfully Marshall stayed well throughout.

I'm fully healed now and raring to go although that darn cough still lingers. Overall very fortunate with no hospitalizations or lasting effects. Anyway, time to get back to our MTAA business and meetings!

We have sent out 3 applications for scholarship this year which is wonderful but would love requests for more! Those of you who have requested the three—now it's time to be reminding and reminding the students to get them started, completed as they finish up their senior year and returned by the June 30 deadline. Be sure they send them first class mail..from experience with our grandson who sent his surface (bulk) mail and it arrived exactly 1 month late even though he had mailed it in what he thought was plenty of time to arrive and subsequently was disqualified.

As far as the reunion is concerned I have no detail at this time. I know a questionnaire was mailed to every MTA member to see the interest in Reno before final preparations were made and perhaps there is info elsewhere in this newsletter regarding that. Where ever and whenever we have it we look so forward to seeing everyone once again.

Please have a good spring, stay well and as always if you have any info you'd like to forward for future newsletters contact me any time.

May God bless our troops at home and across the world; our veterans; wounded warriors and each and every spouse as part of the military family.

Until next time..

Mary

CAMP MUJUK, 47, SOUTH KOREA III Marine Expeditionary Force

Story by 1st Lt. Keyon Whyte

Photo By Staff Sgt. Amanda Taylor | U.S. Marine Corps Maj. Todd Sturgill, the company commander for Headquarters Company, Headquarters Battalion, 1st Marine Division, speaks to Marines about building a combined command post in preparation for Freedom Shield 24 in Pohang, South Korea, Feb. 25, 2024. FS 24 is a defense-oriented exercise designed to strengthen the ROK-U.S. Alliance, enhance the combined defense posture, and further strengthen security and stability on the Korean peninsula. CAMP MUJUK, South Korea – U.S. Marines from across III Marine Expeditionary Force, and Marines from 1st Marine Division, I MEF, deployed from Japan and the United States to join their ROK counterparts to exercise as the Combined Marine Component Command during Freedom Shield 24.

Freedom Shield is an annual United States Forces Korea training exercise designed to enhance the combined defensive capabilities of the CMCC in support of USFK, the Combined Forces Command, the United Nations Command, and the ROK Joint Chiefs of Staff. The exercise provides both forces the opportunity to continue to strengthen the ROK-U.S. Alliance.

“We look forward each year to the opportunities to work alongside our Republic of Korea Marine Corps counterparts,” said Lt. Gen.

Roger Turner, commanding general of III MEF and commander of the CMCC. “The partnership between our two Marine Corps is unrivaled, and our bonds of friendship and comradery run deep in support of the ROK-U.S. Alliance.”

During the exercise, the CMCC will rehearse force-wide command and control of combined ROK-U.S. forces to improve their collective defensive posture.

“FS24 is an excellent opportunity to strengthen the ROK-U.S. alliance,” said Lt. Gen. Kim Kye Hwan, commandant of the Republic of Korea Marine Corps. “This exercise is a great opportunity to showcase clearly that the ROK-U.S. Marine Corps team is at the center of the ROK-U.S. Alliance.”

A key aspect of this year’s training is rehearsing combined, multi-domain operations by leveraging land, air, sea, and non-kinetic assets to protect the combined security interests of both nations. This year’s emphasis on multi-domain operations enables the CMCC to rehearse the command and control of a wide range of military capabilities, resulting in a combined ability to respond to new and dynamic security challenges.

In conjunction with Freedom Shield 24, III MEF will also have units conducting field training exercises with their ROK Marine Corps counterparts consisting of close air support training, live fire training events, logistics training, and subject matter expert exchanges. The frequency and depth of combined training underscores a shared commitment to regional security and defense of South Korea.

Marine Littoral Regiment Training Exercise is a large-scale, service-level exercise designed to train, develop, and experiment with the 3d MLR as part of a Marine Air-Ground Task Force, led by 3d Marine Division, operating as a Stand-in Force across a contested and distributed maritime environment. MARINE CORPS BASE HAWAII- U.S. Marines with 3d Marine Littoral Regiment are recipients of the following Marine Corps Association (MCA) Information Awards: the Lt. Col. Kevin M. Shea Memorial Unit of the Year Award, the Chief Warrant Officer 5 Brian “Joe” Graniero Restricted Officer Communications Award, the General Alfred M. Gray Award, and the Influence Officer of the Year Award.

The MCA Information Awards are administered by the Deputy Commandant for Information and consist of 23 individual awards, three unit and organization awards, and one individual or team award for the information communities.

3d MLR’s Communications Company is the recipient of the Lt. Col. Kevin M. Shea Memorial Unit of the Year award. Since its activation, 3d MLR’s Communications Company has participated in multiple large-scale, combined, and joint exercises, including Balikatan 22, Balikatan 23, Joint Pacific Multinational Readiness Center (JPMRC) Exercise, Marine Littoral Regiment Training Exercise (MLR-TE), and Force Design Integration Exercise (FDIE).

During JPMRC, Communications Company validated their ability to tie into joint force command, control, and communications (C3) systems, while supporting the U.S. Navy’s 3rd Fleet, Joint Force Maritime Component Commander. Communications Company also supported mission connectivity across Army Advanced Field Artillery Target Direction System (AFATDS), Army-Command Post Computing Environment (CPCE), Joint Automated Deep Operations Coordination System (JADOCS), and narrowband radio nets. They did so while also experimenting with different commercial solutions to shrink the communications footprint and increase available bandwidth for C3 systems.

TWENTYNINE PALMS, CA. 3rd Marine Division 3rd Marine Littoral Regiment Marines Receive Information Awards

Additionally, during Balikpapan 22 and 23, the Communications Company Marines worked alongside the Philippine Marine Corps to improve interoperability and secure communications between the two services. During MLR-TE the company employed graduates of the Expeditionary Communicators Course in dispersed locations across the west coast. The two-man teams were able to support communication architecture necessary at each site to close kill chains in a contested and distributed environment. During FDIE, Communications Company supported 3d MLR in validating concepts outlined in Force Design 2030 and allowed 3d MLR to establish multiple fires and sensing expeditionary advanced bases across disparate training areas.

"I couldn't be prouder of our team's recognition in receiving the Kevin M. Shea Memorial Unit of the Year Award," said Capt. David Noble, 3d MLR Communications Company Commander. "Pathway has exceeded every expectation in enabling command and control in the Indo-Pacific and across the Joint Force."

U.S. Marine Corps Chief Warrant Officer 4, Joshua D. Stone was the recipient of the Chief Warrant Officer 5 "Joe" Graniero Restricted Officer Communications Award. Stone served as the MLR's Space and Propagation Engineering Officer and was instrumental in transforming 3d MLR's ability to establish and maintain joint kill webs in complex operating environments by engineering diverse tactical transport at an unprecedented level in the Marine Corps.

U.S. Marine Corps Capt. David L. Estes was the recipient of the General Alfred M. Gray Award for his contributions as the MLR's Assistant Communications Officer. Estes led multi-disciplined, cross functional teams to deliver diverse and resilient kill webs, hosting some of Force Design's most exquisite capabilities across multiple Joint and Service-level exercises.

U.S. Marine Corps Maj. Kevin J. Smith was the recipient of the Influence Officer of the Year award. Smith served as the MLR's Information Operations and Civil Affairs Planner and was instrumental in developing the MLR's Fusion Cell which served as a synchronization cell for inform and influence operations, cyberspace, space, intelligence, and Electromagnetic Spectrum Operations.

"I am extremely proud and humbled to serve alongside these Marines," said Col. John G. Lehane, commanding officer of 3d MLR. "Developing communication pathways for a low-signature, mobile force is no easy task and these Marines have embraced the challenge and succeeded. I am excited to see what they continue to achieve in support of 3d MLR and the Fleet Marine Force as whole."

The Marines will be recognized at the annual Marine Corps Association Information Awards Dinner on April 11, 2024.

Almighty Father, whose command is over all and whose love never fails, make me aware of Thy presence and obedient to Thy will. Keep me true to my best self, guarding me against dishonesty in purpose and deed and helping me to live so that I can face my fellow Marines, my loved ones and Thee without shame or fear. Protect my family. Give me the will to do the work of a Marine and to accept my share of responsibilities with vigor and enthusiasm. Grant me the courage to be proficient in my daily performance. Keep me loyal and faithful to my superiors and to the duties of my country and the Marine Corps have entrusted me to. Make me considerate of those committed to my leadership. Help me to wear my uniform with dignity, and let it remind me daily of the traditions which I must uphold.

If I am inclined to doubt, steady my faith, if I am tempted, make me strong to resist: if I should miss the mark, give me the courage to try again.

Guide me with the light of truth and grant me wisdom by which I may understand the answers to my prayer.

Amen
